

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT – READING LIST

There are, of course, any number of books about Eleanor Roosevelt, and hundreds more about the times she lived in. But here's some I keep going back to.

Eleanor Roosevelt

This Is My Story (1937) – Covers her life up to Franklin's presidency

This I Remember (1949) – Her account of the White House years

On My Own (1958) – From 1945 to shortly before she died

These three books were also published in 1961 as a single Volume, entitled The Autobiography of Eleanor Roosevelt

My Day: The Best of Eleanor Roosevelt's Acclaimed Newspaper Columns

Blanche Wiesen Cook – Eleanor Roosevelt (3 volumes)

Vol. 1: 1884-1933

Vol. 2: The Defining Years: 1933-1938

Vol. 3: The War Years and After: 1939-1962

Joseph Lash (Lash was a cherished friend and protégé of Eleanor's)

Eleanor and Franklin (1971)

Eleanor: The Years Alone (2014)

Doris Kearns Goodwin, No Ordinary Time: Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt; The Home Front during World War II (2011)

David Michaelis, Eleanor (2020) This is one of the few recent single-volume biographies of Eleanor.

Joan Hoff-Wilson, et al., eds., Without Precedent: The Life and Career of Eleanor Roosevelt (2020) This is a collection of essays about Eleanor by a number of different historians.

Sandra Opdycke

sandraopdycke@gmail.com