

All,

Welcome to the summer offering of Human Resource Management!

My name is Dr. Faezeh Amirkamali. I have a Ph.D. in Management from the University of Texas at Arlington. I joined Marist in 2018 and teach Organizational Behavior and Human Resources Management courses at the undergraduate level and Management of Organizational Change at the graduate level.

As an eight-week course, the pace is quick, and it is essential to stay current with your readings and homework to succeed. It is recommended to read ahead whenever possible so that you can do the weekly homework on time.

While the course officially begins on Monday, June 3rd, the course Brightspace will be available on Monday, June 20th. I suggest starting by carefully reviewing the syllabus. Next, head to the Discussions and introduce yourself with a post under the "About Me" forum.

The required textbooks for this course are as follows:

- Human Resource Management, 16th Edition, Sean Valentine; Patricia Meglich; Robert L. Mathis; John H. Jackson. ISBN-10: 0-357-03385-X. ISBN-13: 978-0-357-03385-2. (It is included as an ebook in the MindTap course digital platform, so you would not need to purchase the paper book separately unless you prefer to have a paper book instead of an ebook).
- MindTap course for MindTap for Valentine/Meglich/Mathis/Jackson's Human Resource Management digital platform.

I am excited to explore the topic of organizational change and change management with you over the next eight weeks. If you encounter any problems or have any questions, please do not hesitate to email me at faezeh.amirkamali@marist.edu.

Best,

Dr. Faezeh Amirkamali
