

MARIST

ADVANCED CERTIFICATE IN HEALTHCARE MANAGEMENT

Hospitals, nursing homes, specialty clinics, and private practices all need administrators who are adept in the usual aspects of business management and who can apply those skills within the unique business model and of healthcare management. Career opportunities are plentiful and well paying. The Bureau of Labor Statistics classifies healthcare management as a high growth field, now and many years into the future.

If you've been tempted to try graduate school, but are worried about the time and money commitment, a graduate studies certificate in Healthcare Management will give you an impressive resume booster without requiring you to commit to a full degree. If you already have a graduate degree, this certificate will expand and freshen your credentials.

The Graduate Certificate in Healthcare Management will:

- ▶ Freshen an older MBA or MPA to increase interest in your online profiles and resumes.
- ▶ Prepare you to make a career change from your current industry into healthcare.
- ▶ Prepare you for a promotion from direct care provision into healthcare management.
- ▶ Make you more comfortable, confident, and effective with your new responsibilities if you're newly promoted from direct care to management.
- ▶ Increase your visibility so you stand out from the competition who is applying for new jobs or promotions alongside you.
