How I Can Help As Your Peer Mentor: Coming to college is a huge adjustment for everyone. I have experienced the stress and uncertainty of coming to a new environment and can help you in all the areas that may be causing you trouble!

What I Was Nervous About: When I started college, I was nervous that the course load was going to be so overwhelming that I would never have any free time. I learned that through time management and prioritizing, there is still plenty of time to have fun and explore the Hudson Valley while still balancing your school work.

What I Was Excited About: When I first started college I was excited to meet new people through getting involved on campus. I have met so many great people through campus activities and have learned so much from them.

Advice for the Class of 2021: Take advantage of every opportunity that you can on campus! This will help you adjust to your new life at college and help you make new friends with similar interests.

Have an amazing summer, see you in the fall!!
